Old Home and Anniversary Sunday

Services Held at Methodist Church the Second of March—Sermon by Pastor Singleton, Who Has Held Pastorate Here Three Years

Pastor Singleton took for his text the words of Jesus Christ, standing upon their feet for I have appeared unto thee for that purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness, both of these things which I have said unto thee, and of those things in which I will appear unto thee. Delivering these from the people and from the gentiles unto whom I now send thee.
Acts 29:16, 17.

Theme, Looking Backward to 1879 and Forward to 1979 and 80 or From the Centennial to the Centennial.
This was a proud moment for Paul as he stood before Agrippa. I am inclined to think he had revealed in the anticipation of sometime standing before a Roman Potentate 200 years hence in the 29th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles we hear King Agrippa speaking, "Thou art permitted to speak for thyself." I repeat, how happy must have been the people and the gentiles unto whom I now send thee.
And as if a church we have finished the second half century of our Church life. We are fifty-one years old this month of March and with the faces of the Roman God Jams we look backward and exclaim, "Behold! What wonder! He that was in the beginning, and the end, and the first and the last, and the one who had a passion for souls, he labored for three years and both societies grew in strength and numbers."

The Norway Methodist Church had its birth in a cliche Rev. by the Rev. J. B. Lapham, pastor of the South Paris Methodist Church. A man of God and in labors abundant for his Lord. In 1877 Rev. C. Rogers succeeded Bro. Lapham at South Paris. Bro. Rogers was a Prince in Israel and in the second year of his pastorate at South Paris in the year 1879, a gracious Spiritual Revival swept over the little village of Norway, at the following annual conference Bro. Rogers was returned to South Paris to continue the good work he had begun.

In July, 1879, work of excavating on the lot, corner of Beal and Lynn Streets, preparatory to the building of a church edifice, at last work was begun on the building and the kind assistance of W. E. Cushman and others of South Paris, the church was finished and dedicated the latter part of February, 1880. That is just fifty years ago. The church was rededicated in 1894.
In 1880 the conference was held in Bath, April 16-21. Bishop R. S. Foster presiding and the Rev. O. S. Pillsbury was appointed pastor of the Norway Church, which had it believed, become of age and wished to step out from under the parental roof of the South Paris Church, and like a young bride, start housekeeping for itself. As we ponder over those early years and of the origin of our church, we may be pardoned for having the experience of the founder of Methodism as he sat one night in a little meeting room, attended by the Moravian brethren in London—and thinking of his experience he said "My heart was strangely warmed."

The Methodist Church of Norway was not formed as the outcome of a split from some other church. No—Bless God—it had a natural spiritual birth in the hearts of a few Godly persons who were seeking a deeper spiritual life. Two charter members still remain: Mrs. Abba Clark and Miss Martha Fisk.

As Methodists, in the realm of education we hold an enviable record. Of all the high school graduates in the United States one out of every three is a Methodist. Of all college graduates in the country, one out of every five is a Methodist and many of our present day students, both in high school and college life are measuring up to the high ideals of the church.
Coming back to the history of the church. In the choice of its pastors it has, for the most part, been very fortunate. Besides thirty pastors of early years, there are such names as the beloved, late Rev. H. L. Nichols, who, only one year ago, stood in this very pulpit and preached a heart searching sermon at the Semi-centennial celebration—he has gone to his reward and Sister Nichols is "carrying on."

There are the name of B. C. Wentworth, C. A. Brooks, and T. C. Chapman, who is the esteemed and honored treasurer of the Maine Conference. These are the names which have added lustre to the long line of saintly pastors, who have graced the pulpit of the Norway Methodist church. Some have gone to their eternal reward and joined the Church Triumphant—others just waiting for the Heavenly Chariot to bear them home, while others are in the front ranks in the war against sin and iniquity—and are still "carrying on." "Behold what the Lord hath wrought."
Every institution has two histories: First, there is the external story—the narrative of its inception, of its outward setting, its small and feeble beginning, its growth in numbers and its successive administrations—these can all be written with pen and ink and are recorded in a book. But there is another history—which is more important, more vital, more enduring. I mean the story of the soul of the institution—the spirit which has animated its life, and of the witness it has given of its power to minister to the needs of its day and generation—this is the real history, and the only history by which it will eventually be judged. Growth in numbers may not always be a true test. By starting a dance hall in one corner, and a table in another, a smoking room in another, it may not be difficult to get a crowd. But what about the kingdom of God?

As I look, with you, into the past history of this church—noting the high ideals for which it has ever stood, pointing men and women to the Lamb of God ministering to the spiritual needs of the community—I am led to exclaim with the Psalmist, "Walk about Zion and go round about her, tell the towers thereof, mark well her bulwarks, consider her palaces that ye may tell it to the generations following." And here—Bless God—we raise our Ebenezer "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." But "Watchmen, what of the night?"

As I said in the beginning, what this church will be in 1979, fifty years hence will very largely be determined by the service rendered by the present generation. In 1979 or 80 some pastor-of-the-Norway Methodist Church and some annual conference will be looking back over the long years. They will mark the beginning of, and the dedication of this church back in 1880. They will also single out the semi-centennial and Old Home Celebration of 1929 and 30.
And as some future special anniversary preacher shall come flying through the air at the rate of 200 miles per hour, they will look back and smile at our slow methods of travel and transportation. The Hangar will have taken the place of the Garage.
At the Centennial celebration, the housewife will no longer have soot, smoke and coal fumes to contend with, but all she will have to do will be to press a button in the morning near the bedside and the breakfast will be on the way. Homes will be heated with invisible heat. The janitor will simply press a button or throw a switch one hour before services are to start, and the worshippers will praise Jehovah in comfort in any part of God's house.
Stained glass memorial windows, picturing some suitable Bible subjects will have taken the place of these more or less old fashioned windows. But here again I have only been describing the exterior story of the First Century history of this church. What about the other history? "The Soul History." As I stand with you in these days with our faces looking towards 1979 and 80, I cry to the words of the Prophet Isaiah "Awake, Awake, Put On Thy Strength, O Zion, Put On Thy Beautiful Garments O Jerusalem. Shall we not begin hence and now to strengthen the foundations laid a half century ago?
May we be imbued with the same unquenchable spirit the pioneers of our church, they dared to attempt and do great things for God, for they believed their God was a great God and worthy to be praised. We need a deeper spiritual life among the fathers and mothers. Fathers and mothers who know their Bibles as well as they know their bridge and road. Fathers and mothers who can find their way to the church as easily as they can find their way to the movies. Fathers and mothers who are more interested in the Father's business than they are in their neighbors'. Fathers and mothers who know how to pray as well as they know how to gossip and scandalize. A good bit of sewing was accomplished in preparation for the annual fair, which will take place in the summer.
Mrs. Harriet Brown, who has been sick with a bad cold, is better.

DEMOCRATIC PROPOSED WET PLANK

From the Bridgton News

The Democratic Party, prior to the passage of the 15th amendment, rose to a position of some prominence in this state, by its exposure of the proposition to re-submit the state prohibitory constitutional amendment to popular vote. At that time it was a serious threat, besides several lesser officers, some leaders of the party now propose a plank in its platform, to be brought before the convention, which would favor putting the federal government into the liquor business.
The sponsors of this plank argue that this would not only be a bootlegger out of business, for the reason that the purchaser would be able to buy pure liquor from the government, at cost. "condemns the legalized saloon and the illicit traffic in intoxicating liquors and favors the manufacture and sale of fermented liquors, light wine and beer by the national government at cost and under strict regulation and control, with all the present laws and penalties against private sale and manufacture continued in force."
It will be interesting to see how this proposal will be received by the state convention and if adopted how it will strike the rank and file of the voters of the state.
Maine elects four representatives to Congress and one United States Senator this year, and if by any chance one of these wet candidates should be elected, it would give the Democrats of this state great cheer.

"The physician of my father's day groped in the dark. It was then impossible to see through living tissue nor could those old-time doctors command a variety of electrical currents that would extend their healing influence wherever sent. Doubtless, there are more worlds to conquer and yet with present facilities, a physician has immeasurably greater opportunity to tell what's the matter with his patient and what to do for him."

Liston P. Evans, editor of the Piscataquis Observer publishes the above with this comment:

"I would not go so far as to say that every one of Dr. Patten's patients died from what is now called appendicitis. When I was in a Boston hospital for surgical treatment, one of the patients was a University of Maine student, who had been operated on for appendicitis. He told me of being taken sick at a football game and that on the way to his room he had to lie down by the side of the road. He was in such pain.

"His experience was exactly like mine when a boy. Several of us walked two miles into the country to attend a party. During the evening I became ill and started for home alone. It was winter and the walking was difficult, and I had such severe pains in my side that I was obliged to lie beside the road until I felt able to go on.

"I got home after a while and my father (who was a physician) treated me for inflammation of the bowels and the trouble never returned. There were many people sick in those days as I was, but many of them got well and I do not doubt but many of Dr. Patten's recovered from a similar trouble, which would now be appendicitis."

WHEN PHYSICIANS GROPED IN THE DARK

Roland T. Patten, ex-editor and controlling owner of the Independent-Reporter of Skowhegan, and now editor of the Presque Isle Star-Herald prints in the latter paper the following:

"A reputable surgeon would tell you that he ought to save nine out of every ten of his appendicitis cases. My father, the late Sumner A. Patten of Mouson, a country physician, in the 50 years practice, probably had 500 patients afflicted with that malady. Every one died. That's just about the difference in surgery between the final half of the last century and the years since 1900. There has been an advance quite as striking in diagnosis.

"The physician of my father's day groped in the dark. It was then impossible to see through living tissue nor could those old-time doctors command a variety of electrical currents that would extend their healing influence wherever sent. Doubtless, there are more worlds to conquer and yet with present facilities, a physician has immeasurably greater opportunity to tell what's the matter with his patient and what to do for him."

Liston P. Evans, editor of the Piscataquis Observer publishes the above with this comment:

"I would not go so far as to say that every one of Dr. Patten's patients died from what is now called appendicitis. When I was in a Boston hospital for surgical treatment, one of the patients was a University of Maine student, who had been operated on for appendicitis. He told me of being taken sick at a football game and that on the way to his room he had to lie down by the side of the road. He was in such pain.

"His experience was exactly like mine when a boy. Several of us walked two miles into the country to attend a party. During the evening I became ill and started for home alone. It was winter and the walking was difficult, and I had such severe pains in my side that I was obliged to lie beside the road until I felt able to go on.

"I got home after a while and my father (who was a physician) treated me for inflammation of the bowels and the trouble never returned. There were many people sick in those days as I was, but many of them got well and I do not doubt but many of Dr. Patten's recovered from a similar trouble, which would now be appendicitis."

Mothers... Watch Children's COLDS

COMMON head colds often "settle" in the throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take a chance—at the first snuffle rub on Children's Musterole once every hour for five hours.

Children's Musterole is just good old Musterole, you have known so long, in milder form.

Working like the trained masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

Keep full strength Musterole on hand, for adults and the milder—Children's Musterole for little tots. All druggists.

One user says, "I suffered tortures from muscular rheumatism but after taking Tanlac for a couple of weeks I was over the rheumatism, my kidneys acting fine, my digestion in apple-pie order." THINK OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE IN TERMS OF TOMORROW

Ultimate cost is as important as first cost in the purchase of an automobile

When you purchase an automobile you are making an investment of a considerable amount of money. It is essential, therefore, that you give careful thought to the best selection and know what you are getting for your automobile dollars.

The first cost is important because it may mean an immediate, satisfactory saving. Of equal importance is the ultimate cost after thousands of miles of service. This ultimate cost is the true measure of automobile value.

The first cost of the new Ford is unusually low not only because of economies in manufacturing, but because the same principles that inspire these savings are extended to every other step that means greater service to the public. It is easy to see that economies in production would be of little value if they were sacrificed later through high charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, does business on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company. His discount or commission is twenty-five to fifty per cent lower than that of any other automobile dealer. You gain because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

The difference in selling cost, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, amounts to at least $50 to $75 on each car. This is as important as economies in production in keeping down the price you pay for the new Ford.

The low ultimate cost of the new Ford is the result of sound design, quality of material and unusual care in manufacturing. Friction and wear are reduced by the accuracy with which each part is made and assembled.

These factors combine to decrease the cost of operation and add months and years to the useful life of the car. The good performance and low yearly depreciation of the new Ford are indicative of the enduring quality built into it at the factory.

SERVICE charges are on the same fair, economical basis as the making and selling of the car and replacement parts are always available at low prices through all Ford dealers. In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost.

Think in terms of tomorrow, therefore, when you purchase an automobile. For tomorrow will reveal its true worth.

Oil thins

Plays safe—

OIL thins out quicker than weather because it is used oftener to give a car its starting. Every time you start, a small amount of burned gasoline is sucked into the crankcase and mixes with the oil—

Thin oil will not protect from grinding to

Diluted (thinned) oil catches that protecting film between the cylinders and pistons so essential to keep them running together. Motors become out of tune. Motors become out quicker. Watch your car in cold weather. Don't let it get into danger point.

A change of oil brings to your motor

Perhaps your oil has thinned out so that you have to use more oil than you should. That's because the noise your motor makes is due to the difference at once put in new oil. Your motor will run smoothly and quietly when wearing the oil which mean wearing and quickly quiet down.

Flush your crankcase when you change your oil

There is no way, winter or summer, to avoid a certain amount of dirt, metal particles and carbon finding their way into your crankcase. You don't want them to mix with the new oil, and the only way to get rid of them without taking down the motor is to have your car flushed. Socony Dealers and Service Stations are justifiably proud of the efficient service they render in this respect with Socony Flushing Oil.

Your hard-working winter motor deserves a change of oil

Winter is by no means over. There is still cold weather to come. Get through it safely and comfortably by changing your oil now. Have the old oil drained off—your crankcase flushed—and refill with Socony lubricants. The Socony dealer or Service Station knows exactly which lubricants have the proper body to give you the best lubrication at varying temperatures.

With the motor flushed and fresh oil added, you'll have nothing to worry about—for Socony lubrication is Certified Lubrication.

OPPOSES PROF. JONES' REMARKS

R. L. Cummings of West Paris Gives His Views on Maine's Development

We had our Pomona Grange here at West Paris, March 4, with a full house. The speakers were Prof. Jones of Orono, and Governor Gardiner. Prof. Jones' address was principally on the subject of the advancement and progress made by agriculture of this state. In contradiction to the prevailing idea that agriculture was in a decadent condition. As evidence of this fact he cited comparisons of production and values from 1880. He did not mention that the development of potato production in Aroostook County with the building of the railroads in the eastern part of this state caused that section to become one of the greatest potato producing spots on earth.

This was a new development in new territory, while the older sections that were not so well adapted to great production have declined. Notwithstanding this fact I dispute his findings as not in harmony with the facts when fairly considered. That could not well be prevented. It seems to me that the best way to determine whether we are going ahead or backward is to find out what we are doing now. Take a period over which the development on new territory or railroads have not made great changes. Ten years should be sufficient to show which way even a slow man is moving.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington says that the value of all crops produced on the farms of Maine in 1929 was $10,152,234; in 1928, $10,152,000; in 1927, $8,563,000; in 1926, $7,707,000; in 1925, $6,254,000. You will see by this that unless the Federal statistics are all wrong, that the production of farm crops within the last ten years has been reduced nearly one-half. How about the animal production?

The U. S. Department of Agriculture gives the following: animal products, 1929, $32,093,000; 1928, $31,999,000; 1927, $30,981,000. A decrease in value of animal products of a little over $1,000,000, between 1925 and 1929. I had the pleasure of an introduction to Prof. Jones in the morning and had an interesting conversation with him. I call him an able and intelligent man, and I am sorry to be obliged to disagree with the conclusions that one must draw from his address. If he or anyone else wishes to discuss the subject as to what the real trouble is with agriculture in this state, I will be glad to show my views on that matter and my reasons for the conclusions that I have formed.—R. L. Cummings.

Victoriously Proved

... in performance, economy and value

during ESSEX Challenger week

Local tests during Challenger week proved successful on roads of snow and ice. Worst rain storm of the season, Saturday, was no barrier to the new Challenger. A speed of 50 to 60 miles per hour was obtained in 16 seconds from a dead start. Eighteen to twenty miles was the average per gallon gas. Passengers carried during the week, 433. Four wheel brakes not affected by slush and frozen snow.

Prove What Every Essex Can Do

Come take a ride yourself. Know by personal experience what this brilliant New Essex Challenger can do. Its exploits of Challenger Week have swept the country. Essex owners led the demonstration. They were so widely followed and aided by public participation that we are continuing the invitation to Ride—Ride—Ride!

Every locality now knows Essex for the accomplishment of some great feat. Hills seldom attempted in any car were climbed by Essex in high gear. Remarkable economy proofs were established. New acceleration marks were made.

Most important of all—Challenger Week convinced motorists everywhere that Essex represents the greatest dollar for dollar value in car satisfaction that the industry offers. We will gladly give you a personal demonstration of any of these proofs which Essex has established.

Thursday, March 13th. we start a Special 9-day demonstration of the new Frigidaire HYDRATOR

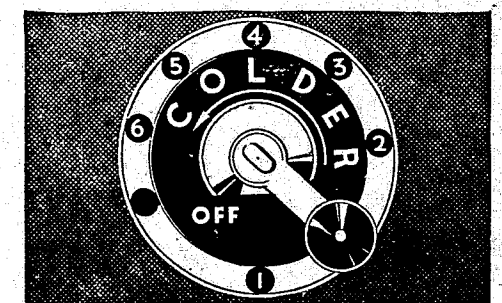

Desserts and salads will be served. New recipe books will be given away . . .

Be sure to attend!

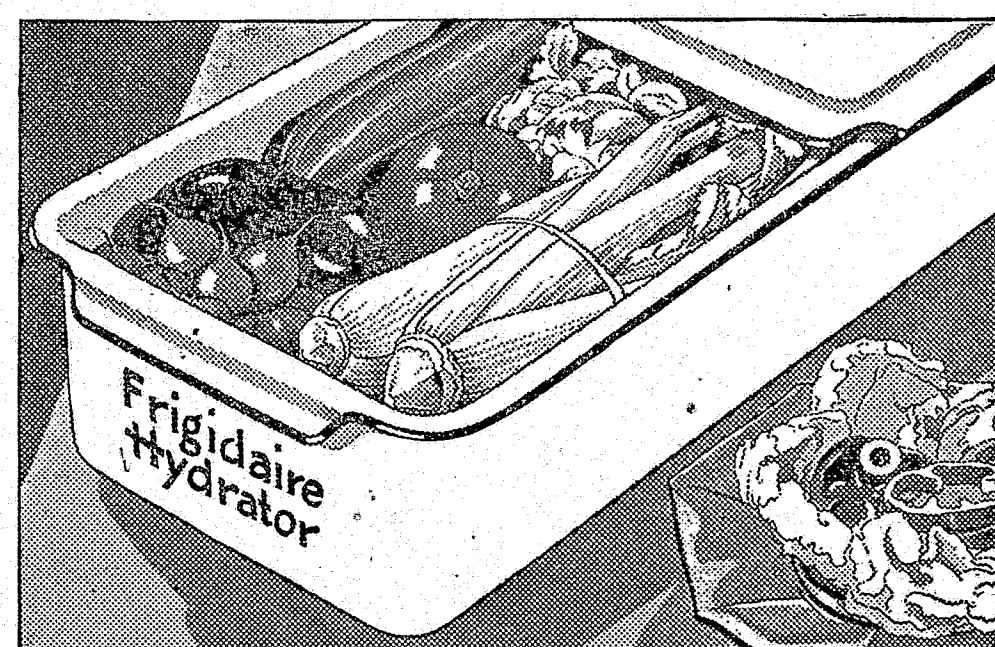

Here's your opportunity to find out all about the marvelous new Frigidaire Hydrator.

On Thursday, March 13th, we start a special 9-day demonstration—one of the most interesting ever held in our showroom.

We will show the Hydrator in actual use—just as you would use it in your home. You will see how lettuce is made tender and brittle by the Hydrator's moist, reviving cold. You will see how celery and radishes take on added crispness—how tomatoes are improved in texture and flavor. You will see how convenient it is to keep all your vegetables in one compact compartment—how the Hydrator saves shelf space—how it simplifies marketing. And that is not all you will see.

THE FAMOUS "FRIGIDAIRE COLD CONTROL"

Fast freezing exhibition

The latest household cabinets in gleaming Porcelain-on-steel will be on display.

The famous "Frigidaire Cold Control" will also be demonstrated. You will be shown how this device freezes ice faster—how it permits you to make scores of unusual desserts that require extreme cold.

Free dessert and salad recipe books

And we'll give you an opportunity to taste the better dishes made possible by the Hydrator and the "Cold Control." A cooking expert will prepare and serve unusual salads and frozen desserts during the entire period of the demonstration. And we've arranged to distribute two souvenir recipe books.

SPECIAL OFFER UNTIL SATURDAY, MARCH 22nd

We are prepared to make a liberal special offer to all who buy Frigidaire during our 9-day demonstration. Let us tell you about this offer. Let us tell you about our easy payment plan. Come in at your first opportunity. We will be open evenings until ten o'clock every day of the demonstration.
